TRY THIS!

Create word pairs with the Vocabulary Words. You may pair each word with a synonym or with an antonym—for example, pair vacant with empty or with full.

- Read the story. Then circle the letter of the best answer to each question.

One afternoon in spring, Dawn was looking at the straight rows in Grandpa's garden. Suddenly she called, "Look! A bunny! Grandpa, it hopped right over your tomato plants."

"Oh, no," Grandpa groaned. "That rabbit is heading for my lettuce patch. It eats every lettuce leaf it can find. What can I do? I don't have enough wire to put a fence around the whole garden."

"I can solve your problem, Grandpa," Dawn promised.

The next morning Grandpa found Dawn making a pile of pulled dandelions in a corner of the garden. "What are you doing out here so early?" he asked.

"I'm making dandelion salad for the bunny, Grandpa. You don't need the weeds, and the rabbits like these as much as lettuce."

- 1 Who are the main characters?

A Grandpa and a rabbit
B Grandpa and a gardener
C Dawn and Grandpa
D Dawn and a rabbit

Tip

Find the names of the most important characters in the story.

- 2 Where does the story happen?

F in an apartment building
G on a farm
H in a park
J in Grandpa's garden

Tip

Look for words such as in, on, or at that tell where the story takes place.

- 3 What is Grandpa's problem?

A Dawn doesn't help Grandpa.
B Dawn doesn't like rabbits.
C A rabbit is eating Grandpa's lettuce.
D Grandpa grows too much lettuce.

Tip

Notice that Grandpa signals his problem with the words Oh, no and What can I do?

SCHOOL-HOME CONNECTION Help your child write a scene like the one above. Include characters, a setting, and a plot. When you're finished, have your child read the scene aloud.

- Read the letter. Then write Yes or No after each statement to indicate whether a reader could correctly make that inference.

Dear Aunt Eva,

We had a great time planting our garden today. We met at the empty lot. Some of us walked or rode bikes. Others came by car or bus. The sky was cloudy, but everyone felt cheerful.

I'm afraid that bringing Ruff was a mistake. He's a sweet dog, but he loves to dig and run. He even tried to jump over the fence! Liz grabbed him and brought him back to me. I kept Ruff on his leash after that.

Ms. Kwan gave us many kinds of seeds to plant. There were zinnias, sunflowers, marigolds, cosmos, and many more. We dug holes, dropped the seeds into the ground, and covered them up with dirt. I had the best job of all—using the hose to water the seeds. Ms. Kwan even brought some tulip and daffodil bulbs for us to plant!

When we finished planting, Ms. Kwan had a picnic ready for us. We all had a terrific day. I wish you could have been here! You would have loved it.

Love,

Anita
